One Year Forecasts predict the probability that a stock-market will rise over the next year. Investors should seek to invest in markets with forecasts of 60-100%, while avoiding markets with forecasts of 0-40%. Bullish = Favourable. Bearish = Unfavourable.

World Stockmarket Outlook

The one certainty in stockmarket investment is current valuations.

Future net profit and dividend growth rates are uncertain . . . and usually over-estimated in an economic and stockmarket boom and under-estimated when economic activity and share prices are depressed.

The trend in interest rates? The Chinese economy? The only reason anyone ever agrees on any of this is that there are few choices. Rates will either go up, or go down. The economy will either grow faster or slower.

Focusing upon valuations and Dividend Yields may look rather simple . . . but it is the one certain factor when everything else is uncertain.

Valuations are not the full answer, but everything else is a guess or expectation or forecast about the future . . . and those guesses or expectations or forecasts are biased by current sentiment. They are likely to be too optimistic when the stockmarket is high and too pessimistic when the stockmarket is low.

Of course, that bias sells newsletters and newspaper subscriptions. In a boom people just want to hear that already high share prices are going higher. And in a trough people will only believe that their depressed shares are going to do even worse in the future.

So what are valuations telling us today?

The United States stockmarket offers a Dividend Yield of 2.22%. That is 12% better value than this time last year - and the best value since 1997 (excluding the great GFC buying opportunity).

United Kingdom shares offer a 4.14% yield, 15% better value than a year earlier. China shares yield 2.47%, 21% better value.

In fact, 75% of the stockmarkets we monitor offer better value today than 12 months earlier!

In the absence of any reliable evidence to the contrary, more attractive valuations are a reliable indicator that stockmarkets are more attractive for investment today than a year ago or at virtually any time over the last 20 years. Remain fully invested in the recommended equities.

Fund Report

Aberforth Smaller Companies Trust plc lifted net asset value 10.2% over the year to 31 December 2015. This was slightly below its smaller UK companies index (up 10.6%), but well ahead of larger UK shares as the FTSE 100 Index was down -1.3%.

Dividend income rose 25%, "boosted by seven special dividends" from investee companies. The trust will pay a final 17.85 pence dividend (making 26.0 pence for the year), plus a special dividend of 2.75 pence. These will be paid on 4 March, with the shares trading ex-dividend from 11 February.

The Fund Managers "day to day focus is on individual businesses and their valuations" and they see "numerous attractively valued investment opportunities". They believe "the valuation gap between growth and value has widened and the number of candidates for inclusion in the portfolio has risen".

The trust therefore "ought to benefit from the value premium, which is the out-performance that value stocks have enjoyed over growth stocks over the long term".

Share Repurchases and Sales

Aberdeen Asian Smaller Companies Trust plc made nine on-market share repurchases over the last four weeks, acquiring 181,500 shares and returning a total of £1.3 million to investors.

Scottish Oriental Smaller Companies made three on-market trades. It repurchased 235,000 shares for £1,636,750.

Baillie Gifford Shin Nippon plc issued and sold 200,000 shares on-market, in two transactions, at a premium to net asset value. This raised £892,700 of new cash for investment in smaller Japanese company shares.

Fidelity Japan Values plc repurchased 170,000 shares on-market at a discount of around 13% to net assets. That returned £139,700 to investors.
