One Year Forecasts predict the probability that a stock-market will rise over the next year. Investors should seek to invest in markets with forecasts of 60-100%, while avoiding markets with forecasts of 0-40%. Bullish = Favourable. Bearish = Unfavourable.

World Stockmarket Outlook

The Average Dividend Yield is a good forecaster of future stock prices, especially over the longer term. When stockmarkets fell in March, average Dividend Yields in most countries rose towards historical highs. High yields indicate that stock prices are under-valued . . . and stock prices have rallied strongly from those lows!

In response to Covid-19, many companies have cut dividends, either as business activity is depressed or owing to uncertainty. Lower dividends equal lower dividend yields. See the charts on pages 4 and 5.

Share prices have also risen strongly over the last six months. Higher share prices equal lower dividend yields.

Dividend Yields are now near historical lows in many markets. Low yields indicate that stock prices are over-valued. This is a time to be cautious!

We recommend continuing to hold a 25-30% cash reserve and 25-30% of counter cyclical sectors (i.e. Gold Mining, Utilities and Energy).
